The views to the north over look the prairie as far as the eyes can see and the views to south overlook a valley of trees as well as Reesor Lake. Option number two is our West Side CHIPP hike, where we walk up an old resource trail covered with wild grasses and wildflowers and once we hit the top we find another secret bench as well as a view as far as the eyes can see going west. Option three is a short walk at the Intersection of Fox Run road and Nine Mile road where there are remains of an old farmstead at the bottom of the coulee; how old is it? That is up to you to find out. Register at the Visitor Center or over the phone and meet at the Visitor Center.
